SCBN & CBC

Alive Radio is part of the Scottish Community Broadcasting Network, which brings together around 20 Scottish community radio stations.

We're also members of the Christian Broadcasting Council, which exists to encourage excellence in the media.

FINANCES

Our greatest need now is the finance to construct studios and kit them out. The total budget for setup and launch is in the region of £15,000. Would you be willing to contribute toward these costs? Alive Christian Media Ltd was formed as a parent company to facilitate Alive Radio and is also a registered Scottish charity & not-for-profit company. Gift Aid forms and Standing Orders are available from the address below or online.

HISTORY

Alive Radio has broadcast on a Restricted Service (temporary) Licence over three years. The most recent period was from the 24th July - 20th August 2006.

Alive is from Dumfries, Scotland, produced by people from local churches, and is therefore underpinned by a Christian ethos. Ofcom awarded us a Community Radio Licence in May 2007, for the Dumfries area, and we plan to be up and running by summer 2009. We'll run 24/7 and feature a huge variety of shows, with something for everyone - from quiet talk shows to vibrant music programmes! Around 40 people are involved in the organisation.

It will also be available worldwide online at aliveradio.net.

WHAT SORT OF STATION WILL IT BE?

Community radio is all about supporting a community, helping it to grow and develop in a healthy way. Through Alive, we plan to build on our past experience, to present a valuable resource for Dumfries and surrounding rural communities. We'll have discussions, interviews, news, and really good music. It's brought to the public by people from local Churches and organisations. It won't be a station which "pushes Christianity down people's throats", but will be a real and natural expression of lively, relevant faith, presented with enthusiasm & fun. It aims to build community spirit and help people feel good about their community and their place in it.

HINGE PIN

Communities in and around Dumfries are often described as fragmented and depressed. Alive Radio aims to connect those communities; providing a forum for information, discussion and involvement. It aims to be a vital hinge pin, enabling people to understand each other and work together

NEW LIFE

Alive also aims to breathe life into our communities. There's a wealth of talent and potential amongst us - it just needs to be released. Through exciting music genres, training opportunities and a lively approach, our local communities will be enriched and freshened with new hope for the future.

TRAINING

We plan to offer relevant, engaging training opportunities to young people and older ones too, through links with the local schools, colleges and adult education.
